Why promote your brand in Indonesia

- The Indonesian government has included crypto as part of its larger strategy to transform the country's digital economy, the government allows crypto to be traded as commodities.
- The Gemini study, titled "Global State of Crypto Report," found that 41 percent of Indonesians, aged between 18 and 75 years old with an income of more than $14,000 per year, own crypto assets.
- The number of crypto investors has doubled in the past year to 12 million, despite covid.
- Another study found that 61 percent of Indonesian respondents agree with the notion that crypto is the future of money.
